Coach Abandoned North of City Claimed by Waterloo
Woman; Not Damaged

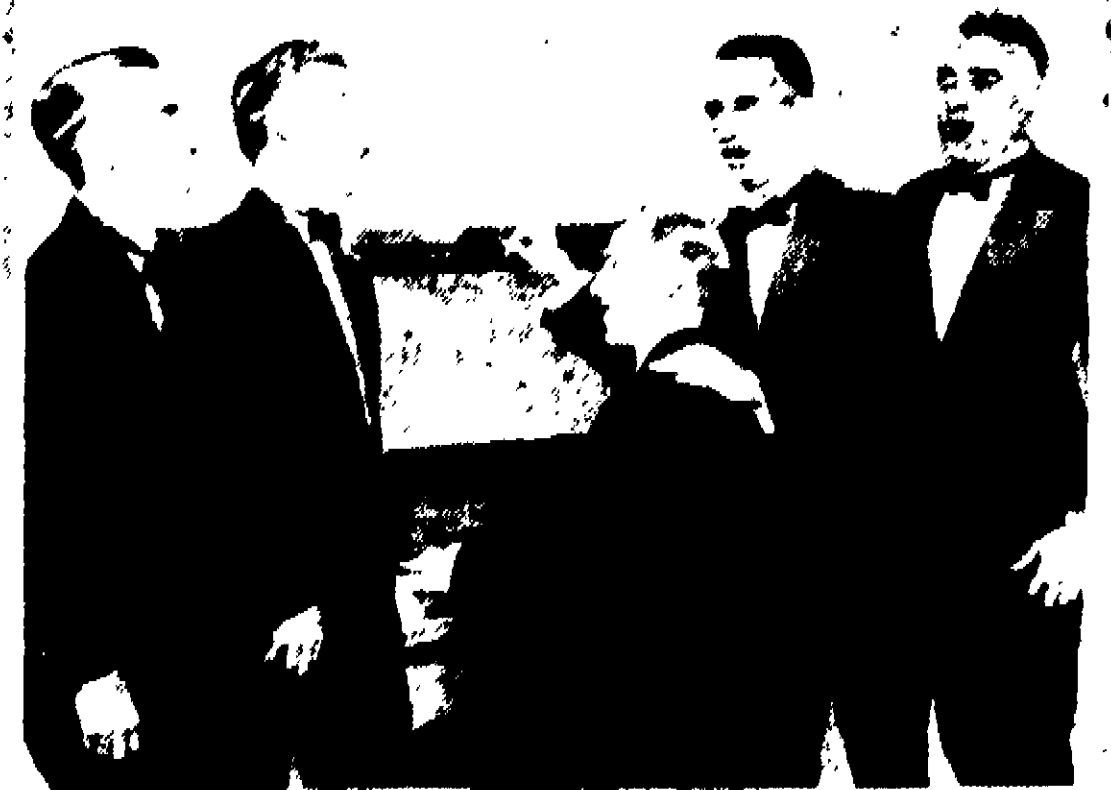

Two officers from Waterloo, Ind., came here Saturday and took possession of a 1927 model Buick-Knight coach which was stolen at Waterloo about 10 days ago and was found abandoned in an orchard 1.5 miles north of Marion a few days later.

The machine is the property of Mrs. Mary Goodrich, a resident of Waterloo. The Waterloo officers stated that they had information which may result in arrest of the thieves. The car was taken, according to investigation made by officers, by persons who planned a trip to this part of Ohio and confessed the car to provide them with free transportation.

A farmer who found the machine abandoned in the orchard north of here reported it to the sheriff who took charge of the car and immediately notified Indiana automobile registration authorities.

The machine was not damaged.

Mr. Starn is in the passenger traffic department, and Mr. Cook is in the ticket department, and Mr. Lang is a ticket seller at the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Chicago. Art Jöhler, piano accompanist, is from the freight traffic department at Chicago.

MEET UNDER WAY
Laurie Firdrye Favored In Women's Golf Tourney

Cleveland, June 27.—The Ohio Women's golf championship struggle starts at the Mayfield Country Club here today.

Again among the out-standing contestants is the clever Laurie Firdrye, of Youngstown, who claimed her way to the Buckeye title in 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925. By all the laws of golfing, Miss Firdrye should easily repeat this year as the entry list shows no great threat against her. Miss Martha Kinney, of Cincinnati, expected to be the greatest obstacle, withdrew from competition, on account of illness.

Chief opposition to Miss Firdrye is expected from Mrs. Curtis Solih, Columbus. Both Mrs. Tyler and Mrs. Solih are reported in great form.

Who's To Be Vice President? Here Are Few Good Guesses

Considerable Thought Being Given to Job for Coming
Race

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Vice presidential candidates are being more talked about now than at any other season four years ago.

Then, nobody seemed to think anything but the heads of the rival national tickets mattered much. This time politicians are devoting considerable thought to the job of providing them with suitable tails.

The fact is, some real issues are beginning to loom up, which wasn't the case in 1924.

Naturally the party managers are anxious to get on both sides of "vice" presidential candidate "pro" and a vice presidential candidate "con."

As a southerner, Congressman Corbitt of Tennessee is enjoying a decided boom. Senator Pat Harrison assumes the Republican standard again, which continues to be a first class bet, a good farm relief or trust be picked to bring up the rear.

Vice President Fawcett is one but it isn't certain that he cares to repeat though he'll stand for promotion if he can get it. It's also uncertain whether Cal want any more of Dawes. They haven't been a very harmonious pair.

Frank O. Lowden would be ideal, but, a candidate for president or nothing, he's turned down the vice presidency already.

Aside from Dawes, Senator McNary of Oregon is the man probably most frequently mentioned, not enough so to make him anything like a clutch but perhaps enough so to make him the most conspicuous possibility.

Guy, John Hamill, and Assistant Secretary of War, Hiram MacNider, both of Iowa, have following. Senator Curtis of Kansas is suggested as an off side chance.

Not so very many men are considered available. Agricultural exigencies from the number down.

ON the Democratic side it's almost absolutely necessary to go on the theory that Al Smith will get the presidential nomination.

This isn't because he probably will, because he probably won't, even though he's the strongest single candidate. It's necessary to go on that theory because if he doesn't, the Lord knows who will, and it's necessary to agree on somebody or vice presidential candidates can't be discussed.

If Smith gets first place the Democrats' choice will have to be a southern dry.

He ought to be from the corn belt, too, but he can't be from there and, at the same time, be from the south, and the west, while important, isn't as absolutely vital as Dixie.

County Engineer's Survey of Vernon Heights-Blvd Near Harding Tomb Starts

Proposed Improvement of Thoroughfare in Connection with Memorial Site Landscaping Considered One of Most Important Steps in Project

Survey of the Vernon Heights-Blvd between Marion Delaware and Vernon Heights, one of the most important improvements in connection with the Harding Memorial project, was started today under the supervision of County Surveyor C. H. Leavens.

The survey will extend over the boulevard route from the east line of the Marion Delaware road, immediately north of the Harding Memorial site, to the terminus of the Virginia av passing in Vernon Heights.

Double-Line Boulevard
It will be a double line boulevard up to the west boundary of the Vernon Heights addition and a single thoroughfare from that point east.

About three days will be required for completing the survey, after which plans and specifications will be drawn up in the county surveyor's office, the surveyor stated today.

According to present intentions, the work will be at least partly completed this year.

The boulevard will be about three-quarters of a mile in length and most of the cost is to be paid by assessments on abutting property.

The type of paving to be used will be selected later by the county commissioners in conjunction with the property owners.

Work Completed
Construction of the base of the Harding Memorial section of the Marion Delaware improvement was completed Saturday by P. Drake & Sons, the contracting firm in charge of the project. Spreading of the asphalt surface, which will finish the job, is scheduled within the next few weeks.

This work will be done by H. P. Streicher Co., of Toledo, which has its asphalt plant here ready for operation in connection with city street improvement work as well as the Harding Memorial project. According to present plans, the Streicher Co. will not start operations until all of the projects are ready, the schedule being to keep the asphalt plant running continuously once the work here is gotten under way.

This may mean that it will be several weeks before the surfacing is done on the Harding Memorial roadway.

Thompson Urges Bureau To Take Insular Possessions from War, Navy Departments

President Coolidge's Personal Representative in Philippines Makes Address Before Lima Luncheon Club; Separate Government Would Make Happier People

Lima, June 27—Col. L. A. Thompson, President Coolidge's personal representative in the Philippines, urged the passage of the Willis Bill, which would establish the Bureau of Insular Affairs, taking the Insular Possessions out of the hands of the war and navy departments.

Colonel Thompson spoke before the Lima Kiwanis Club at noon today. He pointed out that a separate establishment which he recommended in his report and which the president sent to Congress would make for a better administration of affairs and a happier people. The passage of the Willis Bill would put the Philippine Islands, Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands under the jurisdiction of the Director of Insular Affairs who would report direct to the president.

Colonel Thompson commended President Coolidge for the straight forward way in which he vetoed the Philippine Placate Bill and pointed out that this was in keeping with his own recommendation that "complete independence for the Philippines is impossible at this time and for a long time to come." This, according to Thompson, is the first time that any President has definitely told the Philippines that they were not yet ready for independence.

Duty Not Completed
"President Coolidge, like myself, has the sympathy of the Philippines at heart,"

Colonel Thompson says that the enactment of the Willis Bill into law would remove many of the obstacles which make it impossible to have cooperation between the executive and legislative branches of the government. "We must not drop the tasks which we assumed 25 years ago until we have secured ourselves that the Philippines are prepared for complete self government. We should not take away from them their aspiration to govern themselves whenever they are able to stand alone as an independent people."

Urges Cooperation
Touching upon the controversy between Governor General Wood and his Philippine legislature, Thompson said: "Steps should be taken to establish cooperation between Governor General Wood and the legislature. The governor general should be provided with the necessary executive and legislative powers, and the legislature should be given the right to elect the governor general."

With the proper economic and political development, the Philippines would enjoy an era of prosperity such as has never been known in the world. In conclusion, Thompson pointed out the great need of the introduction of the Federal Reserve system and the Federal Land Bank to the islands, and predicted that with such changes the Philippines can raise sufficient rubber and camellia and coffee to break the monopolies in these necessary commodities which foreigners now maintain to the disadvantage of the Americans and also of the Philippine people.

Fears Religious Feud
"A bitter religious feud between the Christian Filipinos and the Mohammedan Moslems might accentuate the danger of a civil war should independence be granted at this time. Independence would mean economic disaster by the ending of the free trade relationship between the Philippines and the United States."

Colonel Thompson said that the Philippines are not yet ready for independence. He pointed out that the Philippines are not yet ready for independence. He pointed out that the Philippines are not yet ready for independence.

Regular
DETONOX Gasoline
Does Work of
Special Aviation Fuel

Navy flyer carries on with DETONOX when other motor gasolines fail and aviation grade can't be found.

DETONOX Gasoline is not made specially for airplane use and yet when a flying officer of the U. S. Navy landed recently at Binghamton, N. Y. to re-fuel, DETONOX was the only gasoline he could find which would operate satisfactorily the motor of his Navy plane.

Other automobile gasolines were tried—all failed. Anti-knock compound was added to the gasoline but still the engine would not respond.

Finally, DETONOX Gasoline was tried and with regular DETONOX motor gasoline this air pilot continued his flight to Philadelphia in safety.

Remember, this was not a special grade of DETONOX. It was not treated or prepared in any way for aviation use. DETONOX is made in but one grade and that primarily for automobile engines. Yet DETONOX is so alive with power that it is performing perfectly in airplane motors.

You can get for your car the same DETONOX Gasoline which drove this Navy plane after other fuels had failed.

You'll find it at any Pure Oil Company Service Station or Authorized Dealer.

It's the RED gasoline in the Pure Oil Blue Pumps.

The Pure Oil Company, Binghamton, New York. 19 May, 1927

Gentlemen:
Recently while enroute from Buffalo to Philadelphia with a new airplane for the U. S. Navy, I landed at Binghamton, N. Y. to re-fuel.

The carburetor jets of this plane were of a size to burn 72 oct aviation gasoline. There was no aviation gasoline available in Binghamton and I tried to use commercial automotive gasoline but without success. I tried "dope" but the engine performed badly.

Upon recommendation I tried your new DETONOX gasoline and this gave the best performance of anything I tried. I am pleased to state that DETONOX enabled me to continue my flight to Philadelphia without mishap. In my opinion your DETONOX is a superior grade of gasoline and in the future I will try to obtain it if no aviation gasoline is available.

Yours very truly,

Lieutenant, U. S. Navy

This was the same DETONOX Gasoline which motorists agree is "better 7 ways"

Doctrinal War Spreading.

The fundamentalist-modernist controversy seemingly is far more widespread than we imagined and possessed of features and ramifications of which we hadn't the slightest conception.

A Shanghai cable to the Sunday papers told us that fundamentalist missionaries of many denominations in China have launched an attack against the modernist National Christian council, charging that the council is dominated by the bolsheviks and is pursuing policies which will drive missionaries from China.

Considering the charges and counter-charges made by our missionaries over in China and the incessantly unpatriotic course followed by some of them, we do not know that the world as a whole would suffer greatly were the whole lot and caboodle of them driven out. This may be a trifle extreme, of course, but reports from China during the past six months have been such that one is bound to question the wisdom of the course of our missionaries over there, at least, if not the wisdom of sending missionaries, at least the kind of missionaries some of them have shown themselves to be, to the Chinese field.

But, getting back to the Shanghai cable, the fundamentalists over there make their allegations still stronger. They charge that the leaders of the council are "secretly allied with the anti-Christian subversive interests having abundant funds" and that their followers are "ignorantly supporting a movement to result in their own destruction," and they have voted to appeal home to the mission boards, asking that, when conditions permit the missionaries to return to their posts in China, "only those who will conduct orthodox work be considered."

We do not pretend to know the merit of the fundamentalist-modernist fight over in China any more than we do the merit of the controversy here at home. We do not know whether the charges of the fundamentalists over there are true or false, but we do know that for too many of our ministers over here, regardless of whether they be fundamentalists or modernists, are championing policies which originated and are still most notably championed by the Russian bolsheviks—the bolsheviks who denounce the church, religion and God Himself—which appeal to us as not only utterly inconsistent with the profession they follow, but also absolutely inconsistent with the Christian religion itself.

Employment Situation Excellent.

"Industries throughout the nation are operating on the remarkable basis of eighty-one per cent of their highest possible employment and unemployment is at a negligible figure." This was the announcement made today by President John E. Edgerton, of the National Association of Manufacturers, following a nation-wide survey of the employment situation.

The announcement was made as the result of a survey made by the association. Three thousand questionnaires were sent out to members of the association in pivoted sections of the country from ocean to ocean, and 2,203 replies were received. These replies covered twenty-three lines of industry. Some came from concerns employing as few as a dozen men, some employed as many as 40,000, and some making response were seasonal industries that are now at the ebb of their productive scale.

The survey shows that the 2,203 companies reporting require 1,509,929 employees, or an average of 685 to the company, to operate their plants at maximum capacity and that they are now employing 1,273,325, or an average of 567 to the company. It was reported that nineteen per cent of the factories are running at full time and that twenty-nine per cent are operating with ninety per cent of their maximum forces.

"We are now at the time of the year when a slump is generally expected," continues Mr. Edgerton in his announcement, "but there has been no slump and there will be no slump during the summer or during the early fall. These reports are all of actual figures received during the last fortnight and represent the employment prospect for the summer and early fall. Naturally, with the advent of winter, there will be an increase in employment."

"As compared with our figures for the same time last year, there has been only the slightest falling-off in employment, a little less than three per cent. . . . I believe the whole nation can be happy in the situation that this survey pictures. It means steady and continued employment for all those at work today. And with this situation is another that is very healthy, the constantly declining retail prices, which stimulate buying and maintain distribution of cash throughout the country. All of this is in the orderly readjustment that means stability and a closer relation between production and consumption."

Living in a city the interests of which are largely industrial, we of Marion can appreciate the fact that the showing covered by Mr. Edgerton is a surprisingly good one. Those of us who have arrived at or passed middle life can remember when industries were operated in the summer season at a far lower scale than shown herein. Both the size of the force and the working hours were customarily reduced—such was the case with the ordinary industry. Then vacations were enforced. Now they are demanded. This is a matter which the president of the manufacturers hasn't touched. This is the vacation period, in the old days the majority of employees would have been glad they been permitted to work through the vacation season. Not so today. The automobile has worked a decided change in the situation. The average employee today owns a car and he insists that he be given a chance to use it during the vacation season. Happily, the average employee now has the means to enjoy an annual outing, and the automobile makes easy the transportation problem. He and his family enter their car, and away they go to the point they have selected for their outing. Hence while considering that the percentage of employment today is nineteen below the maximum, let us remember that there is never maximum employment in the summer season and that a large percentage of the unemployment which at present obtains is voluntary.

In other words, conditions are even better so far as the employment situation is concerned than the survey indicates. The long continuance of our prosperous conditions is simply remarkable.

Our memory actually goes back to the time when we really had summer weather during the summer season.

The newly-elected dall eireann of the Irish Free State has re-elected William T. Cosgrave president of the executive council. Sometimes we are inclined to feel that Eamon De Valera is one of those individuals who simply can't take a hint.

The entire issue of 6,200,000 silver five-mark pieces coined since the stabilization of the German currency is said to have disappeared as thoroughly as the gold and silver coins of France, having, like the French coins, been absorbed by the peasantry and hoarded. It's not a good sign. Manifestly there is still something of a lack of confidence in the governments of both countries. Where there is confidence, fractional currency of intrinsic value ever circulates freely.

President Charles H. Duell, of Inspiration Pictures, has sued Lillian Gish for $5,000,000, charging breach of contract. We can never be sufficiently glad that we didn't go into the movies; not necessarily because of the possibility that somebody might have sued us for $5,000,000, but simply because of our fixed impression that it must be awful to be placed in a position where there is possibility of being made to feel that one's services are as important and valuable as that.

A GROWER OF ROSES
 He had a gift with roses, so they said,
 Some understanding of the secret ways.
 For 'round his home in fragrant beauty arrays
 The blooms in clustered, radiant bright arrays.
 The valley thought him foolish, that one bred
 To wide rich fields where useful toil repays.
 The toiler well should through the precious days
 Fool with mere roses fading when June has fled.

Yet in the valley after twenty years
 They speak of him, his roses like a sea.
 About his gray old home's serenity
 The name upon the marble disappears
 But on the breath of bloom his memory
 Defies the marble's cold conspiracy.

Parks and Camps Mean Life.
 You can increase your expectation of life by years by making proper use of the public parks and playgrounds. You should do this, not only because it will add five years to your career, but because neglect of your body is a sin against Almighty God.
 Man was a pretty crude person in the beginning of things. But he progressed in knowledge, gradually developing ideas of God and religion. Pretty soon he desired a good abode for his deities. A great rock, a building, a wide spreading tree, a mountain top, near one of these he set up his altar. It was in the open air that early man worshipped his God.
 Groves of trees became associated with sanctity and other rites of the ancient religions. Planting trees or preserving a grove was regarded as a religious act. It is said of Abraham that "he planted a grove in Beersheba, and called there on the name of the Lord, and everlastingly."
 Since those primitive days we have gone far on the road of religion. Magnificent temples and cathedrals are erected for the worship of God. But there is one temple which is neglected in these modern days. This is the temple of the body. The body of man is just as much a temple as any that can be erected by human hands. Indeed, St. Paul has admonished us, saying "Your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost."
 You can not have health and vigor unless you have an abundance of outdoor life. A child may survive the tortures of innocent life. You may live to the age of ninety, but you will have no joy in your life, suffering body. But without fresh air, sunlight, the sweet odors of the woods, the play of the turf, the hardening of the muscles from climbing the hills, the alertness of the eye and ear developed by the training of woodcraft, the perfection of digestion, the soundness of sleep from honest fatigue—without your full share of these you can not live so happily nor so long.
 I have no doubt that the boys and girls who have the privileges of Scout camps and make use of them every summer, and naturally to their expectation of life. The daily use of the playgrounds the rest of the year stores up further reserves of strength. The supervised dental and general physical welfare completes the program.
 If I had my way this manner of living would be made compulsory. In any event, it is a glorious thing that kindly governments and warm-hearted individuals have provided the facilities for it. We can not afford to neglect the use of the parks and playgrounds, because to do so means shortened lives. To make full use of them will lay a foundation of health that in my judgment will carry five additional years of life.

Editorial Comment.

THE GREEN LIGHT.
 The red traffic light always means stop, but the green light is no absolute guarantee of the right of way to the motorist making right and left turns. He has the right of way conditionally—conditioned upon the ancient rights of pedestrians.

The court of appeals in the Toledo district has so decreed and the Toledo police have so ordered. The decision and the order must not be interpreted to the effect that the pedestrian has all the rights all the time, but when the pedestrian moves with the green light, motorists making turns must not compel him "to turn or dodge or scurry to avoid collision with vehicles."

Except for such wide judicial interpretation of the rules of the road, it would be difficult, and at times impossible, for pedestrians to cross at busy intersections during rush traffic hours. The decision gives the pedestrian a definite advantage and imposes a greater responsibility—and perhaps liability—upon the motorist.

It is to be hoped, however, that pedestrians will not take undue advantage of the court's decision. It does not appear that they are relieved of the obligation of reasonable vigilance and certainty they should move with celerity and precision at congested points in order that traffic flow may not be impeded.

Traffic Inspector O'Reilly is right when he says courtesy on the part of motorists and pedestrians will aid in accident prevention. It is quite as discourteous for a pedestrian to delay an automobile unnecessarily as it is for the motorist to force the pedestrian to "turn, dodge and scurry," as the court puts it.—Toledo Blade.

NO CURE-ALL FOR CARELESS DRIVING.

Massachusetts is tending no millennium in its new compulsory automobile insurance law. Only extreme optimists—the kind who are always saying: "There ought to be a law," expected such a law would make the world safe. Indeed, the Journal suggested when Minnesota talks were proposing compulsory motor car insurance, the tendency of careless drivers is to be more careless than ever, on the theory that anything happens, the insurance company will make it right.

In Massachusetts they have a driver's license system. Laws are applied directly to the driver. In a single June week the state motor register listed 712 motorists off the road. Of these 128 were penalized because their automobiles had defective brakes. That is an unexcusable fault; quite as unexcusable as senseless speeding and speeding of cars, for the decline of brakes is something easily checked up by drivers, and repair facilities are common and convenient.

There is no hope of cutting it down by means of abstract law. The only effective weapon against carelessness is specific, detailed regulation, accompanied by continuous enforcement. Safety on streets and highways depends on the sense of personal responsibility. Insurance laws, abstract laws, unenforced traffic rules, and all other impersonal efforts count for nothing.

There might be a gain from the suggestion of Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, that part of the money which might be derived from licensing of individual drivers be used in domestic education campaigns, especially in the schools. But even that would not cure carelessness. Enforcement of specific law is the best remedy—but it is a constant battle.—Minneapolis Journal.

OHIO'S BLUE SKY LAW.

The Franklin county grand jury at Columbus has indicted the head of a Michigan corporation which is charged with violating the blue sky law. In 1921 the division of securities withdrew from the corporation the right to sell its stock in this state. Instead of appealing to the courts to have the division's ruling set aside, the corporation ignored the order and continued selling. The Better Business Commission, of Columbus, which has done much to raise respect for law and the rules of good business, learned of the violation of the law and brought the case to the attention of the legal department of the division of securities. The Franklin county prosecutor and grand jury acted promptly. The finding of worthless securities was carried on to such an extent that the division of securities of the state. Criticism of the manner in which the law has been enforced has come from some quarters, but little is likely to be heard from now on, since the Columbus business men's organization and the grand jury let it be known that the law was enacted for a purpose and it is to be enforced.—Youngstown Vindicator.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.
 Civil engineering has clothed the humblest huts and latrines. Engineering of one sort or another has put the once-poor man in a house with him lights and music, beautified the street and given him leisure to enjoy it. It is much happier than our pioneer grandfather's life, because we haven't learned how to use leisure. If you don't know how to use leisure, it is as good as if you were not to have any. It is as good as if you were not to have any. We have thought all sorts of mysterious things into this marvelous planet. What are we going to do with them?

The iron age and the steam age made a world of wonder. The age of electricity was more wonderful yet. Comes now the age of rubber. Chemists talk of rubber houses and rubber furniture. Man devotes his best energy, his best brain to making himself comfortable. What will he do after that? Has he no higher destiny than the complete acquisition of comfort?

Rubber machinery, by the way, can be lubricated with water. That will help solve the oil shortage problem when it gets here.

Today's world favors no greater problem than the job of producing more good people. Nothing more important than eugenics—and nothing harder to do anything about. The unfit increase the fastest. Lothrop Stoddard tells us a thousand Harvard graduates will have but fifty-two descendants in 200 years. At the present rate of reproduction a thousand new immigrants in the city of Boston will have 100,000 descendants in 200 years.

Now comes Harvard and refuses a legacy left for the purpose of providing a course in eugenics. We must face the fact of the need of surgery in the treatment of the criminal and the defective. It takes courage to face some facts.

Don't get the idea that all college girls are dapperly campus promenade. Take note of Helen Ross Rockford college. She has discovered that a girl's emulating treated with civility makes gloom. That means little to most of us. It may mean much to the world of science. It is an important discovery. Don't believe the scoffers who say girls are not as bright as men. Mostly they are brighter.

The first jury disagreed, the women ranging themselves on one side and the men on the other; the second also failed to arrive at a decision; and the third, after forty minutes' deliberation, found the prisoner guilty.

Japanese scientist has invented a method of getting three fleeces a year from one sheep. He injects a certain fluid into the veins of the animal every two days, and this makes the wool grow at a most amazing pace. He confidently asserts that by his method, the wool grows as much in about two months as it ordinarily would in an entire year.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTNER.
 New York, June 27.—Diary of a day in the life of the novel his wife, E. Pettit, has been so proud of it that it has been a great success. Walked across the town and sat on the Bryant park watching sparrows, and so on, suppose, a sign of sanity.
 Home and abroad told me of the fact that he paid one dollar for an apple in a store and came back from the door and gave a cashier another quarter saying he had stolen on a grape going out. Yet when he got later everybody called it ancient. So with my wife to a party the Aubrey Eads gave a party.
 And came the Holbrook Blinn, the Roy Howards, the Keats Speeds, the Bruns, the Margola Gilmore, Jay C. Phipps, Mrs. Cosmo Hamilton, Natacha Rambow, Walter O'Neill, Verree Teasdale, Frank Post, the Ray Longs, Clara Belle Walsh, the Irving Cobbs and others, and all merry will late.

The most ubiquitous New Yorker to a notion is Tippy Gray. He fits the vague definition of a man-about-town. Everybody knows Tippy and he seems to know everybody. Wherever you go—Palm Beach, Paris, London, Hollywood or New York you will find him. He is a natty, boyish and a wizard among piano keys. He appears every where in the movie hero and while I have known him a number of years his profession, says he, is having a good time. It is a nebulous thing. A sort of human question mark is a fitting description.

Tippy is always just arriving or just going somewhere. Not so long ago I talked to him in Los Angeles. He was hopping a train in ten minutes for New York. A week later at a New York pier he was going up the ship plank of a liner for Europe. He never seems to light.

One night he may be found during a lunch around a place in Wall Street, but the next day he is in immaculate evening dress at the Ritz with a group listed in the social register. In fact Tippy seems to appeal to the material in all women. He is the man they trust.

He is not the publicity seeker often found among his ilk. In fact I do not recall seeing his name in print more than twice. He is just a play-boy and seemingly having heaps of fun at the job.

Another mysterious figure along Broadway is a woman. She has twice syndicated her rather purple past. Yet somehow she does seem a part of the loud, flashy life of the city, or capable of making herself a social heroine at so much a word. She dresses with nun-like plainness and her voice appears modulated to a polite whisper. Her constant companion is one of those nondescript little bald men who wear washable white string ties. She does not smoke or drink—at least in public. Her smile is fleeting and wistful. Yet her career proves she is an extremely hard-boiled lady.

A stranger struck up conversation with a novelist in one of the sight-seeing buses—a kind ballyhooed as "Fast car to Chinatown, going right out!" The novelist concluded he was studying types.

"A good trade," was the response. "My father is a job printer, too."</

Main Gives Visitors Only Four Hits While Locals Chalk Up Sixth Triumph

Price Gets Four Bingles and Two Runs as Athletics Win, 8 to 1; Womack and Galloway Shine for Keystones from Capital City

ONLY one of the eight teams in the Marion league is running on schedule time as the four home teams have won their last three games. A number of postponed games are waiting to be played in each league except the Commercial. The latter group has gone through the entire season so far without a postponement.

The Association teams after a bad start, are now running on their regular schedule and will play the second game of the second round tonight. Only four more contests remain in that league.

Two games, both involving the Epworth Seniors, are yet to be played in the first Sunday School League to bring it up to date. The Seniors have a game previously forfeited to the Epworth No. 1 team to play again and have a postponed affair to battle out with the Presbyterians.

Wesley M. E. and Calvary No. 1 are tied for first place in the second round under way. It is the only league in which two teams are deadlocked for first position at present.

TWO postponed games remain to be played in the second Sunday School League, one of them involving the league leaders, the Emanuel Lutherans. The Lutherans are the only team not yet to taste defeat in recreational ball circles in Marion and are hoped to win the final game of the first round from Epworth No. 2 when they play. The Trinity Baptists will be tied for first if the league leaders drop the Epworth game.

ONE of the biggest upsets in the first round occurred in final series of games Thursday night when the Marion Steam Shovel Shovel, 6 to 2, handing the Shovels their first defeat of the season after all others had failed. The Tap & Die still is threatening the league leaders and may cause a sensation in the last game of the season should the present standing prevail during the next six contests.

A general mix-up prevails in the schedule of the Industrial League as the result of an 11-minute deadlock affair between the Osgood and the C. D. & M. and a protested game between the Erie Shovel and Osgood. The Osgood team has played only five games.

The C. D. & M. and Erie Shovel are camped in a tie for third place in the Industrial group and should both win from Osgood, both will be tied with the Tap & Die crew for second place, providing matters stand as they are now until the postponed affairs are played off.

MARION BINGOS TURN IN THIRD STRAIGHT WIN

Defeat Agosta 5 to 1 in Battle on Agosta Home Diamond

The Marion Bingos turned in their third consecutive win of the season and strengthened their hold on first place in the Tri-County baseball league yesterday afternoon when they trimmed Agosta, 5 to 1, on the latter's diamond.

There was some argument at the end of the game about just what the right score was but it was finally decided to call it 5 to 1 for the Bingos. Previous to that time a few of the bingos believed the count to be 7 to 1.

A Merchant batters started the contest for the Marion outfit with Bob doing the pitching and Watt on the receiving end. In the eighth inning John Rife replaced Bob and Walker took up the backstop position. Weston and Cookman were the batteries for Agosta during the entire fracas.

The Bingos have yet to be defeated this season and are the only team in the Tri-County league to hold this honor.

TEX SIGNS DEMPSEY FOR BOUT

Springfield Robbins-Myers Outfit Wins Initial Tilt; Rain Threatens Contest

Rizzor Clouts Homer During Slugfest; Final Score 11 to 6; Gerrin and Rife Used as Moundsmen in Hectic Affair

THE Marion Steam Shovel baseball team lost a slugfest to the Robbins & Myers outfit of Springfield, Saturday afternoon, on the Shovel diamond. The final score was 11 to 6. It was the first game of the season for the local nine.

Interrupted by a cloudburst in the second inning, the Shovels and Robbins-Myers men resumed play 15 minutes later and went the full nine innings. Everybody got his share of the hits as Marion collected nine and the visitors bingles gathered 11 bingles.

The visitors scored first one man crossing the plate in the initial frame. Another tally was registered in the second inning and the Shovels tied the score two frames later. But in the fifth frame Springfield found Gerrin's deliveries and things didn't go so well. When the first half of the fifth was over, the score was 8 to 4, in favor of the Robbins-Myers.

Rife relieved Gerrin in the sixth inning after Springfield had again collected three off the starting moundman. The new pitcher held the opposing sluggers to four hits in the last three innings.

The Shovels made five errors while their opponents made only two miscues. Lucas on the mound for the visitors struck out two and walked five, but had excellent support in the field. Gerrin struck out four in five innings while Rife received three strikeouts during the remainder of the contest. Gerrin walked five, three of the first five bingles being issued in the first two innings.

Rizzor, Ward and Rogers were the leading Steam Shovel hitters. Rizzor socked out a home run one one occasion while Ward received a two bagger and triple. Rizzor also received a double. Snyder and Lyons led with the stick for the Springfield aggregation. Between the two, seven of the 15 runs were chalked up.

A good-sized crowd witnessed the first game of the season at the Steam Shovel grounds. The Shovel had more pep in the players and spectators. Lattimore umpired the game.

It was a duel of youth, for Leslie is but 20 years old himself. The singles crown, won by Shields, had been worn by Kirk Reid for three years.

RAIN STOPS PLAY

Tilden First Set With Jacques Brugnon, French Star

Wimbledon, Eng., June 27.—William Tilden auspiciously opened his match with the French star, Jacques Brugnon today by taking the first set 6-3.

Rain ended play in the middle of the second set.

In the first game of this set Tilden again broke through the Frenchman's service. He took the second and third games easier, and was leading 3-0, playing perfectly and mercilessly when play was adjourned. He had a lead of 4-1 in the fourth game.
